Brandi
Cook

Brandi Cook is your country girl gone city, but here she is showing that you can take the girl out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the woman. Brandi was raised on the Navajo reservation in Arizona as well as having some up bringing on the Blackfeet reservation in Montana. Her country roots aren't only based on area but from her Native American background.

A goal of Brandi's was to leave the country to pursue her passion for scientific research, and she has achieved earning multiple degrees in Microbiology, Cellular and Molecular biology. She is currently earning her Ph.D. in Chemistry at the University of South Florida. It was challenging for Brandi to become accustomed to city life and being distant from her cultural roots, but she does so by having a healthy lifestyle, balancing intellectual pursuits with artistic hobbies in performance and modeling, and keeping in touch with her friends and family back on the reservations she called home.

Brandi has an unlimited curiosity and continues to pursue her research goals and never passes on the opportunity to go for a ride on horseback.

My dream is to one day become an international accomplished model and actor. Growing up in a small town in Alabama the thought of being a model or actor seemed like a pipe dream. I left Alabama by joining the military. The military allowed me to travel the world, meet new people, and get an education. In the process of doing all that I realized that being a model and actor didn't just have to be a pipe dream. It could be a reality. It required me getting out of my comfort zone and making it happen. Comfort zones are where hopes and dreams go to die. Once I made the decision to go for it I haven't looked back since. I have been very fortunate to have met great friends and mentors along the way. To date my accomplishments, include being in multiple runway shows, being published multiple times, and being invited to shoots and shows internationally. The real challenge is finding ways of standing out in the crowd while still being true to who you are. I am very optimistic about the future and hope to help as many people as I can along the way.

My main goal is to become a successful model. At first it was challenging to build connections with the right people because there is a lot of fraudulent modeling agencies. I have always been interested in fashion, so I would love to open my own boutique, while carrying my own clothing lines.

A dream of a day when all shapes and sizes are acceptable in the modeling industry. Which is why my goal with modeling, is to show that you can be confident in the skin you are in, regardless of your size. This goal has led to one of my achievements, which includes working with extremely talented photographers and together we built a network of photography and modeling friends. In this group we see many challenges, but the one I encounter the most in the modeling industry is age and size. However, I challenge the modeling industry to include a wider and more diverse range of people moving forward.
